Extraordinary furniture that will be well-used and passed down into future generations.

Materials that are a gift from the earth

Us furniture makers use precious materials from the earth.

To protect the gift that nature gives us now and has previously given, we think it is very important to choose sustainable wood without cutting illegally.

We make an effort to achieve a procurement that allows traceability.

After all, wood is a precious gift and resource from the world, not only for us human beings, but also for every creature in our ecosystem.

Manufacturing and utilizing wood without any waste, we express our gratitude to the earth in the shape of furniture.

CEO, Fumihiko Seki

The wood Mokuba uses is selected from sources around the world, ranging from Hachimesugi in Fukuoka, our home town, to wood from Africa, South America, and Europe. This wood, friendly to forests and local communities, is managed in a sustainable way.

In forests which are managed in a sustainable way, reforestation is implemented correctly and trees can be cut with less carbon emissions.

By contributing to the protection of the ecosystem, we can also preserve wildlife and water resources and the original functions that forest can have, including the prevention of landslides.

To avoid any waste, we also use vintage wood and wood scraps to produce our products.

By putting in considerable thought into wood procurement, measurement, and our impact on the environment, we make furniture with gratitude and without any waste.

Wood, with the magical touch of craftsmen, is reborn in the shape of new furniture to bring us happiness.

At Mokuba, we express our gratitude to the earth, living creatures, fellow human beings, and an industry that brings us happiness.

Mokuba selects only high quality wood from around the world. In addition, we have control over market research, procurement, and wood management.

We aim to buy "Fair Wood 100%", certified wood which is from domestic or FSC-managed sources.

Naturally dried for 3 years after being cut, the wood is reborn as a product by craftsman.

"Wood" as a living natural product receives a new life through design. To prevent warping or cracking in this living product, we store the wood very carefully, before adding a design to give it a new life.

"The largest vertical milling machine in Japan. It can accommodate any piece of wood up to 6,500 mm long and 1350mm wide.

Extraordinary woods is selected by extraordinary crafts men with extraordinary sense, allowing each piece to be reborn as new furniture. Nature becomes something that users will pour their love into.

Making one-of-a-kind, special products in Japan

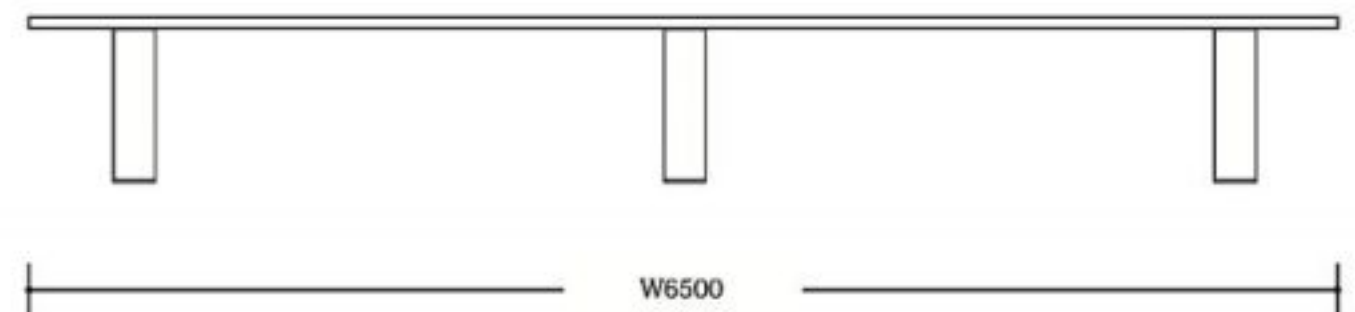

Each immaculate piece of wood has a different shape and line which bring us pleasure.

The organic shape and irregularities in the wood become a design-element that symbolize and create a natural atmosphere.

Wood cleans the air and creates a comfortable atmosphere that gives us ease.

Living with natural wood while still thinking about the environment:

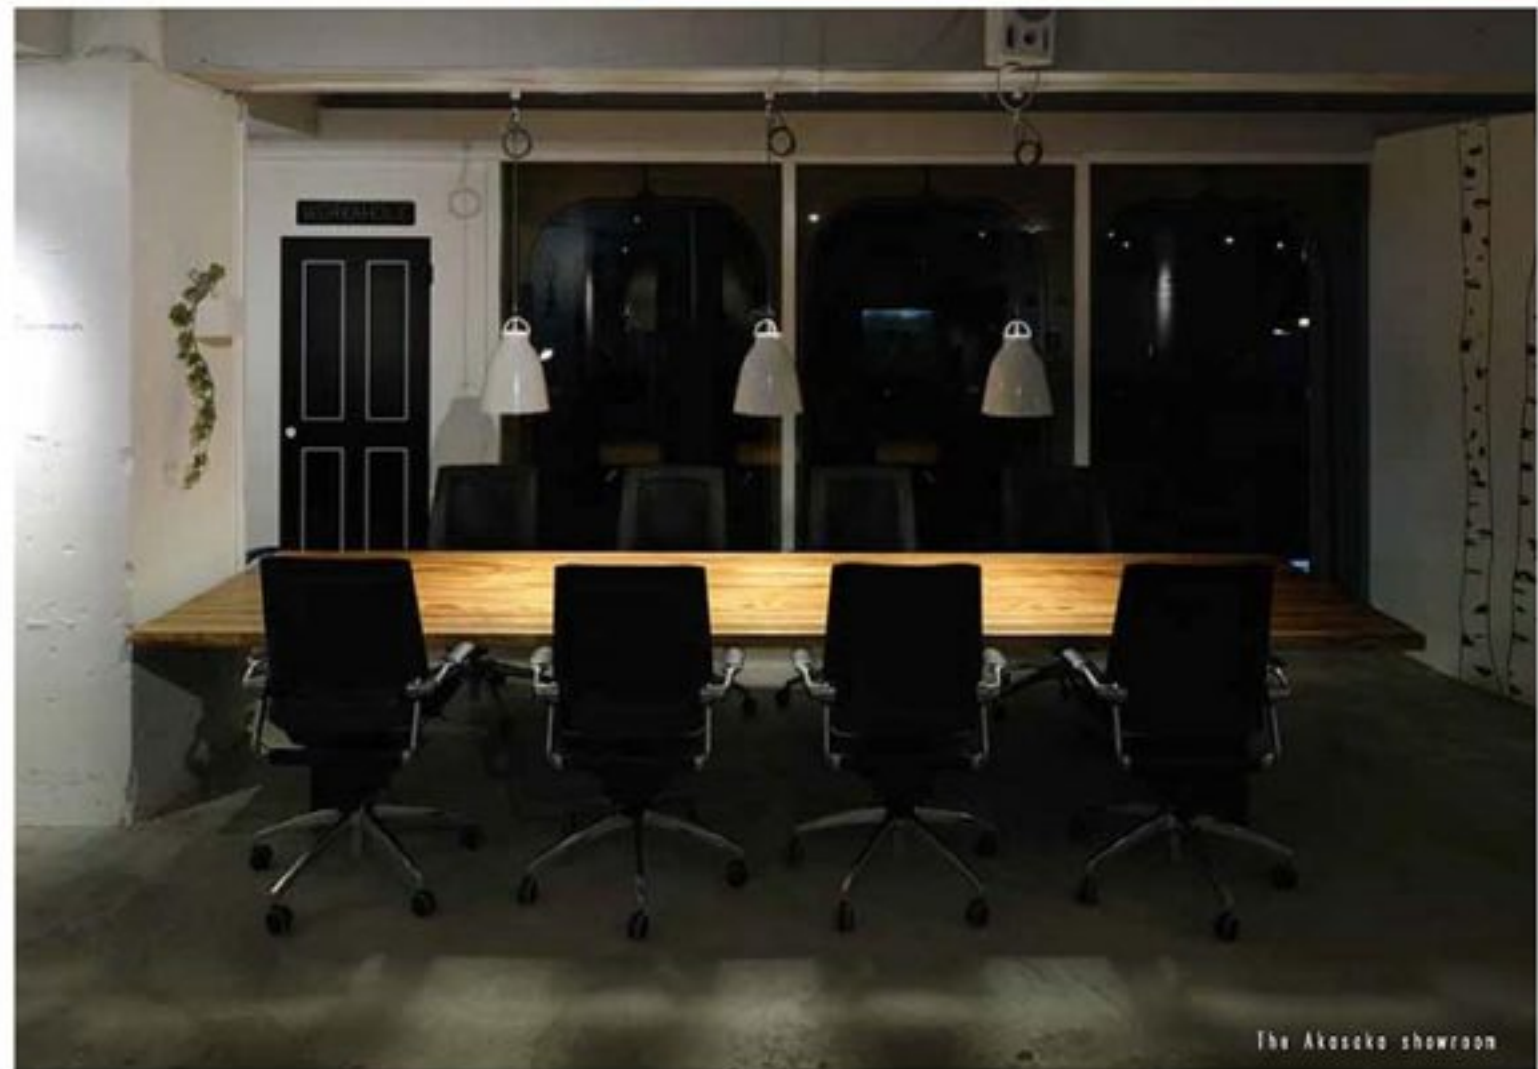

This is what the future looks like.

Size : W6500×D1100-1350×T60

Material : Walnut

Wood like this requires a specific slicer.

At our Okawa branch, we can process wood of even this size.

Over hundreds and thousands years, though its shape always changing, "the power of wood" has made our lives richer.

Along with its subtle scent, with one touch, one can feel a warmth and calm hovering over the wood.

This gives our minds ease, calm, and comfort.

Wood sliced thick like this will be naturally dried as it is. It cures outside for long time before finally becoming a product.
